Joe Wilcox, executive secretary for the "Y," reports that volunteer counselors have completed a thorough training program; more than $8,000 worth of camp grub has been purchased; the new YMCA bus is being readied; and, more than a thousand local boys and girls have registered for one of the 22 camp sessions conducted by the local youth agency.

Wilcox issued a final call for the camp sessions scheduled early in the summer vacation, such as the Glen Canyon Caravan to Grand Canyon, Hoover Dam, Zion National Park, Navajo Indian country, and, of course, the construction site of the huge Glen Canyon Dam.

This trip departs on the first day following school, as does the Gold Country Caravan for teenaged boys also. On the next day, June 17, fifty teenaged girls will depart for the Torrance YMCA's Sequoia - Yosemite Caravan.

Other trips scheduled early in the holidays are the two caravans to the Seattle Worlds Fair from July 2 to 23. Both boys and girls will explore the scenic spots of the Pacific Northwest on these "Y" excursions.

Wilcox stated that there are nine openings for boys 13 and older and four for girls 13 and older for the treks this summer.
